Property Description

A beautiful piece of land that resembles heaven on Earth in the hills of San Isidro. This property is located in the Organica Project amongst hundreds of organic fruit trees. The 3,000 m² land is ready to build! Listed at an incredible price. Only 12 minutes from the beaches and town center of Santa Teresa. The property has established electrical service and a water well. Solid roadways have been established by the project owners and each property has a part that touches the public road. This is a stunning and peaceful place to build a residence or a gathering space completely surrounded by nature. Currently there are no buildings in sight which allows for an incredible 360 degree view out to the Santiago Mountains. The idea of the Organica project is that everyone who resides within the lands respects the idea of a quiet, peaceful place that is connected to nature. The project owners are asking individuals who purchase in the area to build with sustainability in mind as much as possible.
