Property Description

One of a kind property consisting of 27 Hectares / 67 acres of land with large parts of it being untouched forest with several waterfalls. About 13 acres are pasture land for horses, with electric fences and a 90 square foot stable for 12 horses, including a foaling box, common area, paddock and hay storage. The property is at an altitude of 2000 feet with very pleasant climate conditions and temperatures between 70 degrees F and 85 degrees F. No need for A/C or heating. The main residence has a total size of 3200 square feet with half of it being a covered wrap-around veranda. A pool with whirlpool was built in mid-2021. The property can be used in many ways and is suitable for tourism projects, for self-sustainable living, for an eco-community or whatever ideas the new owner will have. The property is bordered by a public road and can be subdivided into several parcels. Mountain water from the community Asada is of excellent quality and provides the property with potable water all year round.
