Property Description

Casa Serena is an example of the effect that organic and contemporary design has on you. Soaring, light-filled spaces give you room to breathe. Natural materials and neutral colors convine with nature always in sight relax and refresh you. Casa Serena is truly the “serene home” you seek. The entrance to this almost 3000 sq ft, newly constructed home is breathtaking with its 2-story glass walls. Ahead you can see right through the open living area to the garden and pool outside. All around you are natural, neutral finishes—wood accent walls, marble-look porcelain tile floors, touches of black iron--and always that feeling of the inside and outside blending seamlessly. A modern kitchen with new appliances and a dining area complete the open-concept space downstairs. A powder room is conveniently located near the entrance. Also near the entrance is a modern staircase that leads to a second-floor hallway open to below but guarded by a contemporary cable railing.
